

Today I am going to share my experience. At that time I was a small girl and I saw a street dog roaming on the street.

After some time I realized that that dog was injured and was very hungry as well as thirsty.

After seeing that I told that to my mom and she told me to take that dog to our home.

Then I took it to my home and we fed him with some food and milk. As the wound was not that harsh we cured him at home using the first air kit.

After some time the dog cured so we let him go. But the satisfaction of seeing him happy and running was enough for us.

This was the experience I had.

THANK YOU!
