

Celebrating the love for classic literature

News published in Times of India Dt May 18 2018

Celebrating the love for classic literature

The Shakespeare Day was celebrated by the students of classes IV to VIII at JM International School, Dwarka, to commemorate the anniversary of the Bard.

The day began with the unveiling of the display board on Shakespeare followed by a special assembly. An enactment of a scene from 'Taming of The Shrew' enthralled the audience. It exposed the students and staff to the works of this great litterateur. Regular lessons were set aside for the students to learn about the great playwright and poet, his sonnets, poems and plays. Students got a glimpse into his life through a video biography and also viewed two of his famous plays, The Twelfth Night and Macbeth. As contemporary speakers of the English language, they found it interesting that they had a lot in common with the Bard of Avon. Students participated in a quiz based on his masterpieces. They also came to know of the different genres of comedy, romance etc. The round based on his famous soliloquies was the highlight of the event.

