

Ludhiana International Model United Nations Conference'2016

Venue: BCM Aarya School, Ludhiana, Punjab

Dates: 8th – 10th January 2016

The students participated in the conference along with 300+ national and international delegations. Aparana Chopra (XI) and Niyati Sharma (X) worked closely with the international press corps and represented the roles of cartoonist and journalist respectively. They were expected to cover the happenings and debate of the human rights council over the course of the three days of the conference. On the third day, Aparana made a comic strip of the events of the entire conference while Niyati interviewed the chief advisor- DM Varun as a part of their crisis assignments. They also conducted a press conference along with the head of international press, editor in chief and head of photography, in the Security Council wherein they questioned the delegates about their statements in the committee over the past two days. Aside from this, a social night was conducted at Radisson blu on the second day of the conference and official dinners with the executive board members and secretariat. On the final day, Aparana and Niyati were awarded with Best journalist and best cartoonist from the twenty member team of the international press.

All in all the conference was well organized and a huge success. The hospitality of Ludhiana MUN was taken care of with utmost sophistication and grace. It was a very enriching and memorable experience.
