

ITL PUBLIC SCHOOL celebrates English Week-Literati

ITL Public School echoed with activities in English for the annual English Week - Literati from 25-29 July 2016 for Classes I – XII. The charisma, finesse and melody of the language reverberated through the activities such as Elocution, Just a minute, Mime, Character enactment, Weave a yarn, Turn Coat, Budding poet, Twist a Tale along with many a new activities such as Press Conference on the classic novel-Wuthering Heights by Emily Bronte. Here, the students assumed the roles of all the characters, be it Catherine, Lockwood or Emily Bronte herself and answered to all possible questions of students who participated in the conference. Both students and teachers marveled at the research and analysis which the students of Class XI had done on the storyline, critical aspect and the characters of Wuthering Heights.

Documentary on the Evolution of Language was another innovative activity presented by Class XII. The time span from Chaucerian English to the Modern and the evolution of English as a language was not only informative but had breathtaking presentation.

To top it up, the multifaceted workshops organised at the school premises gave valuable input on the diction, pronunciation and presentation of the language. Nuances of Theatre - a workshop conducted by the renowned theatre director, Mr. Gaurav Pahwa inducted students on the nitty gritties of theatrical skills. Another workshop by Mr. Manoj Mainkar, Programme Executive at the Directorate General of All India Radio on English diction and pronunciation, redefined our perception and comprehension of spoken English.

The English week culminated in the most magnificent way as the entire department showcased the world famous comedy of errors by William Shakespeare, A Midsummer Night's Dream. With advanced language skill, persuasive and spontaneous dialogue delivery, rib tickling humour, pathos, irony and exquisite visual element of the drama - A Midsummer Night's Dream was a superhit. The excitement reached its crescendo when the parents watched the play in superlative enthusiasm and awe. The students ended up pulling three shows for all the classes from VI-XII.

The Principal, Ms Sudha Acharya appreciated the literary flair in students and motivated them for more such innovative activities. In Shakespearean line- All's well that ends well... We at ITL took pride in the tasks well done.
