

Movie Show 'He Named Me Malala'

Date: 1 December 2015

Venue: PVR Vikaspuri

For: Class IX-X

On 1 December 2015, students of classes IX and X were taken to PVR Vikaspuri for screening of the documentary movie 'He Named Me Malala' an American documentary film directed by Davis Guggenheim. The movie has been shortlisted with other fourteen documentaries submitted to 88th Academy Awards in Best Documentary Feature category. Final five nomination will be announced on January 14, 2016.

The movie presented a fascinating glimpse into the extraordinary young woman Malala Yousafzai's life and her family's fight for education for youth all over the world. Malala, a young women's activist from Pakistan who's endured attempts on her life by the Taliban for her outspoken opinions on equal education rights is the youngest ever laureate of the Nobel Prize. Her incredible journey has inspired a worldwide movement against the suppression of young women.

It's hard not to be intimidated by this amazing young woman, but students could relate themselves to her as they also got a glimpse into the more everyday aspects of her teenage life.
