Parental Tip

Encourage your child to make one new friend every day. This will help him/her blossom fully and open different dimensions of his/her personality as each new friend will feel it's own expressions, impressions & joys to brighten up the world of your little one.

It is advised not to develop inhibitions in them owing to our own social insecurities because it is most crucial to have faith in oneself, society & the divinity in order to have a strong & beautiful life.
