

Interschool competition 'EpiRama'

Sadhu Vaswani International School for Girls hosted the Interschool competition 'EpiRama' on November 29, 2017 as part of the ISA project on 'Heroic Tales of India and Greece'. The students of classes IX- X showcased the Moments of Dilemma faced by various characters in the Epics, 'The Ramayana' and 'The Iliad' and how they resolve their inner conflicts thereby making a right decision.

The objective of the activity was to creatively present an extract from an epic using skills of theatre and language and make the students understand the importance of life skills in resolving conflicting situations that arise in our lives. The students left the audience enthralled with their captivating performances.

The judges for the competition were Mr. O.P Sharma, an eminent theatre personality and Ms. Sherina Joshi, Associate Professor, Deshbandhu College, University of Delhi.

Sadhu Vaswani International School for Girls bagged the prize for the Best Team. The award for the Best Dramatist was won by Roshni Kumari of Gyan Mandir School. Shruti Negi of Indian School, Prerna Sharma of Gyan Mandir School and Pavani Sharma of Sadhu Vaswani International School for Girls got the 'Special Mention Award' for their splendid performances.
