

A PLACE CALLED HERE – CECELIA AHERN

BOOK REPORT BY ARSHIA, XII C AND INCIA, XII E

ABOUT THE BOOK

Author: Cecelia Ahern

Published in: 2006

Genre: Fiction, Fantasy .

A place called here is about and exploring in depth, the littlest things possible! That is what makes the plots and stories stand out: Something that we haven't read about quite a lot. in A Place Called Here, the theme is 'lost things'. Ever wondered where the lost things go? It's so true! We all have experienced the agony of trying to find random stuff like a pen or a sock . Where do these things magically go ? What about all the people who mysteriously go missing without a trace! Have you ever thought There's a difference in things being misplaced and things being missing. We can find out the misplaced things by searching for them, but missing things cannot be found , or can they ?

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT ??

Ever since the day her classmate Jenny-May Butler vanished, Sandy Shortt is haunted by what happens when something – or – someone disappears. Finding has become her goal.

Jack Ruttle is desperate to find his younger brother Donal who vanished into thin air a year ago so when he spots an ad for Sandy's missing person's agency, he's certain that she will answer his prayers and find his missing brother.

But then Sandy disappears too, stumbling upon a place that is a world away from the only one she has ever known. Now all she wants, more than anything, is to find her way home.