Kabir Sadanand, alumnus of The Air Force School, batch of 1990, visited the school on December 2, 2023.

He interacted with students and shared his experiences and beautiful memories of his days at TAFS. He was thankful for the learning he received in the school and the qualities of loyalty and patience that he imbibed here. TAFS taught him to wait without losing heart and to look forward to new opportunities, despite setbacks. He paid a tribute to his teachers who taught him to channelize his talkative nature by participating in debating, writing scripts and speaking in the morning assembly. He shared his experience of struggle and hardship in his early days in Bollywood, and mentioned how TAFS had taught him that no job was small or petty. He also encouraged the students to follow their hearts in choosing their future course. However, he also advised a lot of hard work and preparation for the path one wishes to choose ahead. He said that in case of confusion regarding one's profession, one must approach the teachers of TAFS, because they are wonderfully equipped to provide guidance without judgment.

An interview was carried out by the Journalism Club of the school, which looked more deeply into his days spent in his alma mater. Click here for the video
